Report on
Student Orientation 2026-27 for First-Year B.A. French (Honours)

The Discipline of French and Francophone Studies organised a student orientation programme on 24th June 2026 at 11:00 AM. The event was organised to welcome incoming students to the B.A. French (Honours) programme and to familiarise them with the academic structure, course offerings, and support services available at Goa University, thereby facilitating a smooth transition into university life.

The event commenced with a welcome address by Mr. Anthony Gomes, Programme Director, B.A. French (Honours), who greeted the incoming batch and set a positive tone for the new academic year. His address highlighted the significance of the programme and the opportunities it presents to students aspiring to excel in French language and literature.

This was followed by a comprehensive session conducted by the resource persons, Ms. Kshama D. Dharwadkar and Ms. Jemima A. Fernandes, Assistant Professors of the B.A. French (Honours) programme. They provided students with a detailed overview of the programme structure and its distinctive features as prescribed under the governing ordinance OA 38, covering key areas such as examination patterns, hostel accommodations, and library facilities. The session further elaborated on the courses offered in Semesters I and II, their alignment with the National Education Policy (NEP) 2020, and the critical steps required for an efficient transition between semesters, enabling students to plan their academic journey effectively.

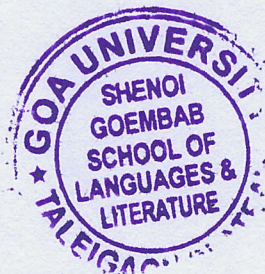

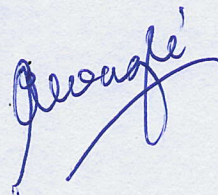

The session concluded with an interactive question-and-answer round, during which students raised queries related to academics, examinations, and campus life. The resource persons addressed each question with clarity and encouragement, reinforcing the inclusive and welcoming spirit of the orientation.

The event proved to be a productive and meaningful experience, equipping students with a thorough understanding of the programme framework and enabling them to make informed decisions regarding their course selections. The proceedings were brought to a close with concluding remarks by the Programme Director, B.A. French (Honours).
