| 10. The objectives of the Program/activity/event       | The objectives of inter-sectional football tournaments in a university school are diverse. These events offer student-athletes an opportunity to display their skills and compete while balancing their academic responsibilities. Tournaments encourage the development of teamwork, discipline, and leadership among participants. Additionally, they help build school spirit by uniting students and creating a sense of community. Beyond competition, these tournaments provide entertainment and act as stress- |

| 11. Description of the Program/activity/event          | Four teams—Organic, Inorganic, Analytical, and a combined Physical-Biochemistry team—competed in the 2026 SCS Inter-section Football Tournament. On the University Futsal court, the Analytical girls clinched victory, demonstrating exceptional teamwork and determination against the Physical girls. Their physical prowess made them a formidable opponent. Meanwhile, the Analytical boys secured an easy win in a one-sided match against the Physical team. Every match was fiercely contested, offering more than just competition; it became a celebration of talent, skill, and spirit. The tournament left the audience inspired, highlighting the importance of teamwork and perseverance in both sports and life. |
| 12. Benefit/Key outcomes of the Program/activity/event | The football tournament brought about several important outcomes. It encouraged teamwork, sportsmanship, and physical fitness, helping participants build camaraderie and embrace healthy competition. It also highlighted the unique talents and skills of the teams. Beyond the matches, the event served as entertainment, uniting the SCS community. The intense competition left a lasting impression, inspiring both players and spectators alike. Overall, the tournament boosted enthusiasm for football on campus and contributed to the personal growth of participants, reinforcing the importance of sports in university life.                                                                                     |
